

Windward Reports Releases Windward Reports 8.0 Enterprise Reporting Software

October 13, 2009

Boulder, CO -- Windward Reports, the champion of easy-to-use reporting software, today announced the release of Windward Reports 8.0. Windward Reports 8 showcases new functionality, optimizations and fixes to this popular enterprise reporting, document generation and mail merge software package. Windward Reports 8 includes support for Excel data source files, step-by-step report design wizards, enhanced charting and graph capabilities, improved image features and simplified methods for adding tags (data placeholders) to report templates.

"Windward Reports users design and edit reports in Microsoft Word, Excel and PowerPoint, and the latest version makes it easier than ever to make sense of your data," says David Thielen, Chief Technical Officer at Windward Reports. "With Windward Reports, businesses have a reporting and docgen solution that improves business intelligence and increases business efficiency."

Windward Reports 8 adds the following significant features to the AutoTag design tool:

- The ability to use XLS and XLSX files as data sources
- Enhanced tags that streamline the process of adding data to report templates
- Improved data selection and graphic options for charts and graphs
- Dynamically scaled images
- A macro language for tags
- Support for pivot tables in Excel spreadsheets
- Additional functionality in PowerPoint templates
- Reports that can be sent directly to a printer

Windward Reports 8 can be quickly integrated into existing business systems to accommodate a wide array of reporting and document generation functions. From tracking daily sales and inventories to creating personalized letters for an entire customer base, Windward Reports 8 is a complete enterprise reporting solution for company data.
