Reporting software increases productivity on shortest day of the year

Boulder, CO – Just in time for the northern hemisphere's December 21, 2012 Winter Solstice, Windward has released the latest version of its AutoTag reporting software. AutoTag is a free-form report design tool that lets enterprises design, format and edit reports completely in Microsoft Office, saving companies time, money and resources.

"AutoTag greatly increases your work efficiency so you'll be able to get your reporting tasks done during the day, not the night," said Annette Grotz, marketing manager at Windward. "It's the perfect Winter Solstice tool."
