

Windward Attains System for Award Management Status

SAM qualification enables reporting software company to continue accepting U.S. Government contracts

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Boulder, CO – Windward, the expert in reporting, document generation and business intelligence software, announced it has received System for Award Management (SAM) status from the U.S. Government. This certification allows Windward to continue as part of the federal government's vendor system and bid on government contracts.

Windward has a long history of supplying government reporting software and document generation solutions to a range of federal organizations, including the Department of Justice, the Department of Energy, the Department of Agriculture, Lawrence Livermore National Laboratory, and the United States Army. Windward is also in use by local, state and international government offices as well, such as the Village of Wellington, Fla., the Nebraska Workers' Compensation Court, and the Australian Maritime Safety Authority.

"Government agencies understand their responsibility to demonstrate how the government functions," said Sandy Eichman, Operations Manager at Windward. "Our ongoing commitment to delivering information safely and securely means we can continue to help these organizations manage enormous amounts of data in a transparent manner."

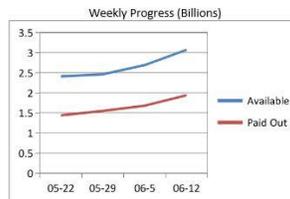

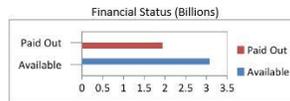

Along with SAM status, Windward has a Commercial And Government Entity (CAGE) Code, which allows it to be a supplier to the U.S. Joint Forces. Windward is also General Services Administration (GSA) and Wide Area Workflow (WAWF) certified, enabling the company to submit invoices and receive payment from the U.S. government via their secure web system.
